

BEFORE THE
POSTAL REGULATORY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20268-0001

COMPETITIVE PRODUCT PRICES
FIRST-CLASS PACKAGE SERVICE
FIRST-CLASS PACKAGE SERVICE CONTRACT 36

Docket No. MC2014-32

COMPETITIVE PRODUCT PRICES
FIRST-CLASS PACKAGE SERVICE CONTRACT 36
(MC2014-57)
NEGOTIATED SERVICE AGREEMENT

Docket No. CP2014-57

MOTION OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE FOR TEMPORARY RELIEF
(July 10, 2017)

In PRC Order No. 85, the Commission noted that it “stands ready to act quickly on requests for temporary relief based on extenuating circumstances” that threaten to interrupt the provision of rates to a customer as a result of the regulatory process and the statutory requirement of 39 U.S.C. § 3632(b)(3).<sup>1</sup> The customer whose competitive product rates were established in this docket wishes to renew its commitment to ship large volumes of First-Class Package Service inbound (return) packages for the next year at negotiated rates. By the terms of the contract filed in this docket, the current rates will expire July 21, 2017.

The Postal Service and the customer have been working cooperatively over the past several weeks to reach a new agreement, which would have avoided any interruption in the Postal Service’s ability to provide this customer access to negotiated rates. However, because of extenuating circumstances, the Postal Service and the customer were unable to reach an agreement on the terms of the new contract in time for the Postal Service to file the new agreement fifteen (15) calendar days prior to the intended effective date.

---

<sup>1</sup> PRC Order No. 85, Order Concerning Global Plus Negotiated Service Agreements, June 27, 2008, at 10 (Order No. 85). In relevant part, 39 U.S.C. § 3632(b)(3) requires that rates not of general applicability established for competitive products be filed with the Commission at least 15 days in advance of their effective date.

Nevertheless, the Postal Service and the customer expect to sign a new agreement within the next sixty (60) calendar days, which will then be filed with the Commission shortly after the Postal Service completes its own internal review and certification process. Because of the timing of the regulatory process, there will be a window between the expiration of the existing contract in this docket and the effective date of the new contract, while the Commission completes its review. Thus, the customer now faces the prospect of an interruption in its access to negotiated rates as a result of the processes that it must participate in when it does business with the Postal Service, rather than with one of the Postal Service's competitors.

To avoid this result, the Postal Service respectfully requests that the Commission grant a sixty (60) calendar day extension to allow the existing contract to remain in effect while the Commission completes its review of the successor agreement. Thus, the proposed extension would only last for a relatively short period of time. In conclusion, for the reasons discussed above, and in consideration of the customers' business continuity, the Postal Service hereby moves for temporary relief to allow the existing contract to remain on the competitive products list for sixty (60) additional calendar days.

Respectfully submitted,

UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE
By its attorneys:

David H. Rubin
Acting Chief Counsel, Pricing
and Product Support

Valerie J. Pelton

475 L'Enfant Plaza West, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20260-1137
(202) 268-3049, Fax -6187
valerie.j.pelton@usps.gov
July 10, 2017